30 Days of Grieving

A guided journal from Sigil and Scribe

One prompt a day. Thirty days of grieving, at your own pace.

How to use this journal

This journal is for the days after someone you love is gone, in whatever way they are gone.

One prompt a day, or one prompt whenever. There is no schedule here and no catching up. Grief does not move in stages, and you do not have to either.

Each day offers one gentle prompt, one line for a good thing if there is one today, and a weather check for your mood. Some days the good-thing line will stay empty. That is fine. Empty is honest.

For the weather, circle what fits: sunny, cloudy, stormy, foggy, or clear night. Grief has weather too. Nobody fails at being cloudy.

When the 30 days are done, the journal is done. Keep it, gift it, or start again from day one.

A reflection tool, not therapy or medical advice.

DAY 1 OF 30

Write their name. Then write whatever comes next, even if it is only how much you miss saying it.

One good thing, if there is one today:

Today's weather:

( ) Sunny ( ) Cloudy ( ) Stormy ( ) Foggy ( ) Clear night

Write as much or as little as you want.

DAY 2 OF 30

What is one ordinary thing that feels different now?

One good thing, if there is one today:

Today's weather:

( ) Sunny ( ) Cloudy ( ) Stormy ( ) Foggy ( ) Clear night

Write as much or as little as you want.

DAY 3 OF 30

Describe a place where you still expect to see them.

One good thing, if there is one today:

Today's weather:

( ) Sunny ( ) Cloudy ( ) Stormy ( ) Foggy ( ) Clear night

Write as much or as little as you want.

What do you wish people understood about your grief?

One good thing, if there is one today:

Today's weather:

( ) Sunny ( ) Cloudy ( ) Stormy ( ) Foggy ( ) Clear night

Write as much or as little as you want.
